

Mawmence ^c.

xx.

Take a pottel of wyne greke. and ii. pōnde of sug take and clarifye the sug with a q̄ntite of wyne ā drawe it thurgh a fl̄ynō in to a pot of erthe take flō of Canell ^f. and medle ^g with sū of the wyne ā cast to gydre. take pyn ^h with Dat ⁱ and frye hē a litell ī grece oꝝ in oyle and cast hē to gydre. take clowes ⁱ ā flō of canel hool ^k and cast ^jto. take powdō gyng. canel. clow. colō it with sāndres a lytel yf hit be nede cast salt ^jto. and lat it seeꝝ warly ^l with a slowe fyre and not to thyk ^m, take brawn ⁿ of Capōns yteyfed ^o. oꝝ of Fesānt teyfed small and cast ^jto.

^c Vide N^o 194, where it is called Mawmenny.

^f Flour of Canell. Powder of Cinamon.

^g medle. Mix.

^h pynes. A nut, or fruit. Vide Gloss.

ⁱ clowes. Cloves.

^k hool. Whole. How can it be the flour, or powder, if whole? Quære, flower of cand for mace.

^l warly. Warily, gently.

^m not to thyk. So as to be too thick; or perhaps, not to thicken.

ⁿ brawn. Flethy part. Few Capons are cut now except about Darking in Surry; they have been excluded by the turkey, a more magnificent, but perhaps not a better fowl.

^o yteyfed, or teyfed, as afterwards. Pulled in pieces by the fingers, called teezing N^o 36. This is done now with flesh of turkeys, and thought better than mincing. Vide Junius, voce Teafe.