

lyed. thickened. MS. Ed. 44, 45. Randle Holme interprets lyth or lything by thickening. hence lyō. a mixture, 11. alith for alyed. MS. Editor. N° 45.

Awey. MS. Ed. 27. II. 18. away.

Auance. 6. forte Avens. Caryophylla, Miller, Gard. Dict.

Axe. MS. Ed. N° 56. Chaucer.

Ayren. v. Eyren.

Al, Alle. 23. 53. Proem. All. Chaucer. al to brest. all burst. MS. Ed. N° 14.

Als. MS. Editor. N° 29. Chaucer. in v. It means as.

Almandes. 17. very variously written at this time, Almaunde, Almandys, Almaundys, Almondes, all which occur in MS. Ed. and mean Almond or Almonds.

Almānd mylke. 9. Almonds blanch'd and drawn thickish with good broth or water, N° 51. is called ihyk mylke, 52. and is called after Almānde mylke, first and second milk, 116. Almānds unblāched, ground, and drawn with good broth, is called mylke, 62. Cow's milk was sometimes used instead of it, as MS. Ed. 1. 13.

Creme of Almānds how made, 85. Of it, Lel.

Coll. VI. p. 17. We hear elsewhere of Almond-butter, v. Butter.

Azeyn. 24. again. Lel. Coll. IV. p. 281. alibi. Chaucer. A. S. Ægen.

Aneys, Anyse. 36. 137. Aneys in confit rede other whyt, 36. 38. i. e. Anis or Aniseed confectioned red, or white. used for garnish, 58.

Amyden. 37. v. ad locum.

Almony. 47. v. ad locum.

Almayne. 71. Germany. v. ad loc. MS. Editor, N° 2. 31.

Alkenet. 47. A species of Buglos. Quincey, Dispens. p. 51. 62. used for colouring, 51. 84. fryed and yfondred, or yfondyt, 62. 162.

Anoon.