Pray you good Mother, giue me leaue to play with little Iohn, to make his Bed, and combe his head, and come againe anon, or else beate me as you thinke good, for I loue Iohn alone.

MY Mistris will not be content, to take a Iest, a Iest, a Iest, as Chaucer meant, but following stil the womans fashion, allowes it, allowes it, for the new translation, for with the word she would not dispence, and yet, and yet, and yet, and yet: I know the loues the fence.
